of the University

The Regents of the University of Colorado

Dear Graduate:

One of the greatest honors for the University of Colorado Board of Regents, the institution's governing board, is to be part of a graduation ceremony. Your success is a success for us all. Your degree is a measure not only of an accomplishment of dedication and talent, but also notice to the world that you have the intellectual gifts and discipline to contribute greatly to our community.

Your commencement ceremony, like every University of Colorado graduation since 1935, will close with the reading of the timeless Norlin Charge. Today "marks your initiation in the fullest sense of the fellowship of the university, as bearers of her torch, as centers of her influence, as promoters of her spirit." Each year, the University of Colorado grants thousands of bachelor's, master's, professional and doctoral degrees to some of the greatest minds in our country and the world. Today, we proudly add your name to this notable group of individuals. Congratulations on your hard-earned accomplishment.

Sincerely,

The Regents of Colorado

The University Seal you will soon see stamped on your diploma depicts a lamp in the hands of youth with a Greek inscription that reads: "Let Your Light Shine."

At the University of Colorado Boulder we have aspired to give you a love of lifelong learning and empowered you to lead the way with your youthful light.

You are in the morning of life and the transformative experience of college has prepared you for career and contribution in a diverse world and a global economy. In your academic career at CU-Boulder you have learned valuable lessons in critical thinking, civil discourse, collaborative decision-making and creative solutions, skills admired by employers and essential in a complex society.

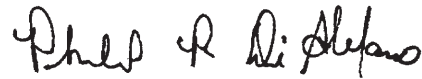

Since 1882, when six young people graduated from the university as its first class, the University of Colorado has been conferring degrees to prepare graduates to succeed in a constantly changing world. Just as you carry on the legacy of our first alumni, your path of achievement and accomplishment will be followed by future generations.

Congratulations. You have earned it. Hold your flame high.

Academic Dress

In 1896, the colleges and universities in the United States adopted a uniform code governing academic dress. Those who are receiving a master's or doctoral degree from the University of Colorado wear hoods lined with the university colors, silver and gold. The velvet border of the hood indicates the degree and usually follows the same code as the color of the tassels.

The Oxford cap, usually referred to as a mortarboard, has a long tassel that is fastened by a button on the top. Candidates for baccalaureate degrees wear the tassel pendant over the right front of the cap before the degree is conferred, and over the left thereafter. The color of the tassel on the bachelor's cap indicates the field of study, with the exception of the BA degree whose candidates wear white tassels indicating the arts.

The Presidential Chain of Office and the University Mace

The Presidential Chain of Office and the University Mace were created by Mary Sartor, MFA, University of Colorado Boulder. Both were gifts to the university by Mr. and Mrs. David G. Hawthorn, class of 1924.

Colorado gold and silver are used in both pieces to symbolize the importance of these minerals to the history of the state. The chain's gem stones also consist entirely of minerals from Colorado.

The chain, created in 1980 for the inauguration of President Arnold R. Weber, holds three suspended pendants. The back pendant is the seal of the state of Colorado surrounded by a golden ribbon representing the golden circle of knowledge. The top pendant in the front is the seal of the University of Colorado surmounted by an arch set with diamonds and topaz, signifying the necessary link between the search for knowledge and its practical application to the world beyond the university. The laurel wreaths that decorate the bottom of the seal symbolize honor and success. At the center of the bottom pendant is a gold topaz indicating the quest for knowledge. The surrounding ring is paved with fragmented cubes and diamonds.

The University of Colorado Mace was created for the commencement ceremonies of May 1984. The foot of the scepter is encased in sterling silver bound in 14-karat gold, ending in an intaglio of the seal of Colorado. The shaft of the mace was carved from a black walnut tree thought to have been one of the saplings given to the settlers of the Colorado Territory by President Abraham Lincoln.

Sterling silver is also used in the crown, and the university seal is bound in gold and supported by an inner rod of gold surrounded by eight arching tapered silver ribs. At the base, the motto of the university, translated as "Let your light shine," circles the crown in Greek characters. The wooden staff is bound at intervals in gold and silver rings.

The University Seal

In its history, the University of Colorado has used three different seals. The current seal, adopted in 1908, depicts a male Greek classical figure sitting in front of a pillar and holding a scroll. Next to the figure, laurel branches frame a burning torch. The inscription in Greek reads "Let Your Light Shine." The seal's designer, Henry Read of Denver, chose the classical motif because Greek civilization "stands as the criterion of culture." The laurel symbolizes honor or success; the youth suggests the "morning of life"; and the scroll represents written language.

From 1893 to 1908, the university seal was a copy of Wyon's medallion, "Science Trims the Lamp of Life." In this version, a Greek woman knelt before a lamp, and stalks of mariposa lilies decorated the border. Before 1893, an adaptation of the Colorado state seal was used, but it was never adopted by the Board of Regents.

The seal is used primarily on official documents, such as diplomas and transcripts that have been issued on behalf of the university. The Board of Regents uses the seal on its official documents and publications. The seal also appears on the President's Chain of Office, the University Mace, regent regalia, and various formal publications.

Joan Charlotte von Bartheld Balsells

Joan Charlotte von Bartheld Balsells was a pioneering woman in engineering and business, a generous philanthropist, and a distinguished alumna of the College of Engineering and Applied Science at the University of Colorado Boulder.

Joan was born in Queens, New York. An airplane ride as a 10-year-old Girl Scout set her on a course to study aeronautics. She enrolled in the School of Aeronautics at CU-Boulder, where she was one of only two females, and graduated at the top of her class in 1951. While studying at CU she met Pete Balsells, a fellow engineering student who had recently emigrated from Spain. They married in 1952. Early in her career Joan worked as an aeronautical engineer at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio and as an aerodynamicist at Jet Propulsion Laboratory in California.

In 1958 Joan and Pete started a small manufacturing business in their home, mixing plastics on the dining room table and sintering them in the kitchen oven. Their company, Bal Seal Engineering Inc., grew into a worldwide manufacturer of springs, seals and connectors used in a variety of aeronautical, automotive, electronics, engineering and medical equipment.

Joan played an integral role in the creation and growth of Bal Seal Engineering Inc., applying her engineering expertise and developing the business savvy to ensure its success. She was responsible for the company's quality control and finances until her death in 1995.

Bal Seal Engineering Inc. today employs more than 500 people, with manufacturing sites in California and Colorado and offices around the globe. Even in the company's early days, Joan and Pete offered employees a unique tuition reimbursement program that paid for attendance of employees at local universities. This benefit continues today.

In 1994, Joan and Pete established a fellowship program that funds students from Pete's native Catalonia, Spain, to pursue graduate studies at the University of California, Irvine. Through the Balsells Foundation, the program has expanded to include fellowship programs at CU-Boulder and the University of Colorado Colorado Springs. There are currently 65 Balsells students pursuing undergraduate and graduate scientific and engineering studies at these three universities. The foundation has sponsored 210 students from Catalonia since its inception. Joan unfortunately did not live to see the growth of the program she helped initiate.

The Board of Regents is pleased to award the honorary degree Doctor of Science, honoris causa, to Joan Charlotte von Bartheld Balsells for her trailblazing career as an aeronautical engineer, her entrepreneurship, and her philanthropy.

Peter J. Balsells

Honorary Degree

During his lengthy career, Peter “Pete” Balsells has distinguished himself with his passion for engineering ingenuity and his support of higher education. Balsells is a true self-made man, having emigrated from his native Catalonia with only $20 and limited English skills. After arriving in the United States, Balsells studied mechanical engineering at the University of Colorado Boulder. While taking classes to improve his English, Balsells worked nights and weekends to put himself through college. It is at CU-Boulder that Balsells met his future wife, Joan Charlotte Bartheld, who was studying aeronautical engineering.

After graduating from the university in 1952, Balsells and his wife moved to Dayton, Ohio, where Balsells used Teflon and stainless steel to invent a set of seals used on fire extinguisher valves. This proved to be a crucial step in his career, and shortly afterward he and his wife moved to California, where he began creating valves and regulators for the Atlas Missile. Prior to Balsells’ work, there were no seals that could withstand the low temperatures needed for sealing liquid oxygen and hydrogen. Balsells tested his Teflon and stainless steel seal at temperatures of below 260 degrees Celsius, and from that success Bal Seal Engineering Inc. was born.

Balsells and his wife started the company in a small Quonset hut that they rented for $40 a month. Through persistence and tireless hard work, the Balsells grew the company into what it is today: a globally recognized leader in custom sealing, connecting and shielding that serves a number of industrial, medical and aerospace applications. Balsells himself holds over 120 U.S. and international patents, and Bal Seal Engineering Inc. employs more than 500 people at its headquarters in Foothill Ranch, California, and at their manufacturing plant in Colorado Springs, Colorado. Currently, Bal Seal is completing a new 50,000 square-foot manufacturing plant in Colorado Springs. It is predicted that this expansion will create approximately 400 additional jobs in Colorado within the next decade.

Alongside his extraordinary achievements in engineering, Balsells has been a strong supporter of Catalan engineering students. In addition to sponsoring a number of students studying English at the Pacific Language Institute in San Luis Obispo, California, in 1994 the Balsells began funding a program at the University of California, Irvine to bring talented Catalan students to the United States to study for advanced degrees in engineering. A similar program was launched at CU-Boulder in 2010, and at present it supports more than two dozen Catalan graduate students as they take classes and study under the university’s engineering faculty. The Balsells Foundation has aided a total of 210 Catalan students in their educational pursuits, and that number promises to grow, as Balsells has also developed a fellowship program at the University of Colorado Colorado Springs.

The Board of Regents is pleased to award the honorary degree Doctor of Science, honoris causa, to Peter Balsells for his innovations in engineering and for his continued support of graduate studies at the University of Colorado.

Honorary Degree

John H. Darrah

Throughout his lengthy and fruitful career, John Harland Darrah has distinguished himself as an incomparable civil servant of both the United States and the University of Colorado.

Darrah's career began upon his graduation from the University of Nevada, Reno in 1957 with a bachelor's degree in physics. Darrah went on to earn a master's in physics from the same school in 1959 and subsequently became a doctoral candidate in physics at Oregon State University. After Darrah had completed all of the requisite course work, language requirements and exams, but before he could complete his doctoral thesis, he was called away on active duty in the U.S. Army.

From 1965 to 1967, Darrah served as a captain in the U.S. Army's Defense Atomic Support Agency, after which time he served as a senior scientist at the Air Force Weapons Laboratory. In this post, Darrah led the study of nuclear weapon design, in particular how the electromagnetic pulse from a nuclear bomb could disable or destroy American weapon systems. Darrah designed and obtained funding for simulators that assessed vulnerabilities and improved security methods for B-52s, Air Force One and AWACs, or Airborne Warning and Control Systems. The U.S. Armed Forces are better equipped to fight in a nuclear battle as a result of Darrah's work.

In 1981 Darrah moved to Colorado Springs and joined NORAD as a civilian expert. During the Cold War, Darrah advanced U.S. missile warning and space surveillance capabilities. He was also a principal part of efforts to modify the Defense Support Program's strategic warning system software; this gave U.S. and Israeli forces crucial warnings of Saddam Hussein's SCUD launches on Tel Aviv and Haifa after Hussein's invasion of Kuwait in 1991.

In addition to his work on behalf of U.S. security—much of which still remains classified—Darrah also stands out as a community leader and champion of the University of Colorado. Darrah has served on a number of advisory boards to presidents of the university, beginning with Arnold Weber in 1980. At that time Darrah set out to make the university a preeminent institution for space study; he began this effort by attempting to win competitive research grants against universities like MIT, Harvard and Stanford. At present, the Aerospace Engineering Program at CU-Boulder is ranked 10th nationally and remains highly competitive in research grants—two facts that speak volumes about the charge that Darrah began over three decades ago.

Darrah created and directed the Higher Education Task Force that wrote the master plan for the University of Colorado Colorado Springs. He then shepherded the plan through the Colorado Commission on Higher Education and the Colorado State Legislature. Finally, Darrah served on the board of directors of the University of Colorado Foundation and several related groups.

For his devoted service and advocacy on behalf of the University of Colorado, the Board of Regents is pleased to award the honorary degree Doctor of Science, honoris causa, to John Harland Darrah.

Richard Jessor

Honorary Degree

The longevity of Richard “Dick” Jessor’s career is outmatched only by his extraordinary loyalty and dedication to a single academic institution: the University of Colorado Boulder. Having spent his entire professional career at CU-Boulder (1951–2009), Jessor is the longest serving faculty member in the university’s history.

Jessor’s education began in 1941 at College of the City of New York. He was called away to service in the United States Marine Corps from 1943 to 1946, during which time he fought heroically in the Battle of Iwo Jima. Jessor was awarded a Purple Heart for his service, and upon returning to the United States he successfully completed a bachelor’s degree at Yale University, a master’s degree from Columbia University and a doctorate from Ohio State University.

Jessor joined CU-Boulder immediately upon graduating with his doctorate, and since then has distinguished himself through his substantial and influential body of work in the area of psychology and, in particular, adolescent development.

Jessor is still labeled a “Highly Cited Researcher” by the Institute of Scientific Information, meaning that he is in the top 0.5 percent of researchers cited worldwide. Jessor has authored or edited over 130 publications, and his Problem Behavior Theory continues to be a crucial paradigm for understanding adolescent behavior that is considered socially and/or legally undesirable. According to one colleague, Jessor’s work in adolescent development has been influential not only in the field of behavioral science, but also in the field of public health, where applications of his theory are made with regard to adolescent alcohol and marijuana use, unprotected sexual intercourse and drinking and driving.

In addition to his scholarly accomplishments, Jessor is an innovative and outstanding member of the CU-Boulder community. He was named a Distinguished Professor by the Board of Regents in 2005, and he was also founding member of the Institute of Behavioral Science, which was founded in 1957 as an interdisciplinary research facility studying issues of social concern. Jessor was the director of IBS from 1980 to 2001, served on its board of directors for a number of years and directed two of its core research programs. He also played an integral role in the completion of the IBS building, which was partially funded with five years of salary savings that accrued when Jessor retired.

The Board of Regents is pleased to award the honorary degree Doctor of Science, honoris causa, to Richard Jessor for his decades of devoted service to the University of Colorado Boulder.

Since 1990, graduating seniors at CU Boulder have been creating an infinite impact through the Senior Class Gift Program. It is an honor to recognize those who are wearing a blue contribution cord today. They have personally donated to the Seniors Creating Future Buffs Scholarship. The Senior Class has come together this year to make a lasting difference at the university by providing prospective students with the chance to attend CU. This scholarship provides graduating seniors with the opportunity to give back to the heart of the university, its students. Because of the generosity of our students, the scholarship will forever ensure the quality of the university that we are so lucky to call our alma mater. This is our chance to make an infinite impact. Thank you and Congratulations to the Class of 2015!

The CU Parents Association created the CU Proud Award to honor students who, by an act of courage, compassion, character, service, integrity and/or initiative, set the standard for their peers and make us proud to call them one of our own. Students earning this honor are wearing a silver cord.

Daniels Scholars are well-rounded leaders who are committed to working hard to earn a bachelor's degree. They embrace the chance to learn, adhere to high ethical standards, and enjoy giving back to their communities and families. CU-Boulder Daniels Scholars have created a strong community for supporting one another throughout their journey. This graduation cord acknowledges all of the challenges each scholar has overcome and celebrates all of their successes. It is an honor to wear this teal and white cord that pays tribute to a man, Bill Daniels, who has made their dream of achieving a college degree an attainable reality.

CU-Boulder is proud to recognize those students graduating today who have served in our country's armed forces (veterans) as well as those who will serve upon graduation (ROTC commissionees). These students can be identified by the red, white and blue cords they are wearing with their graduation regalia.

The idea of Forever Buffs, and a continuing lifelong relationship with the University of Colorado, is particularly special for graduates of CU Legacy families. The CU-Boulder Alumni Association proudly presents a black and gold cord in recognition of the tradition and generational bonds to CU represented by these graduates and their families.

For Your Safety

The University of Colorado Boulder works diligently to provide for the safety of our graduates, their families and their friends during the spring 2015 Commencement Exercises. You can do your part by noting the following:

- Once you are seated in Folsom Stadium, locate the nearest exit to your seat. If you are seated on the field level, you should exit north (toward Dal Ward Athletic Center).
- Listen carefully and follow any instructions which may be issued by the master of ceremonies or other public safety authority.
- Parents should keep their children with them at all times.
- Pay particular attention to the safety of any elderly persons or persons with disabilities.
- If directed to evacuate Folsom Stadium, please move away from the stadium and remain outside until you have been given an “all-clear” by a public safety authority.
- If necessary, seek assistance from a robed commencement marshal, uniformed police officer, or designated security guard.

Thank you, and congratulations to our spring 2015 graduates!

Additional Information

If you are not attending your college or departmental ceremony, you may pick up diploma covers at the Registrar's Office, Regent 101, weekdays from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Graduates receiving doctoral degrees may pick up their diplomas on Monday May 11, 2015, in the Graduate Student Services office between 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. The office is located in the basement of the Regent Administrative Center, Room 1B53. If you are not able to pick up your diploma on that day, it will be mailed to your diploma address by the Office of the Registrar.

The commencement website address is: colorado.edu/commencement.

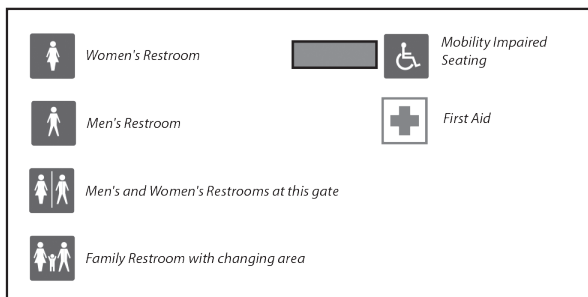

Join the conversation and celebrate the accomplishments of our newest alumni in social media! Use #ForeverBuffs on your photos and stories, follow @CUBoulder and @CUBoulderAlumni on Twitter and Instagram, and check out the highlights of commencement at colorado.edu/social.

The international flags on display represent many of our international students graduating today. Graduating students may request to have the flag of their country represented at the ceremony through the Office of International Education. While the Office of International Education makes every effort to honor requests, there is limited display space and not all country flags are available.

This program is produced jointly by the Office of the Registrar and the Office of Strategic Relations and is printed on recycled paper.

Special thanks to the graduate breakfast sponsors: the Office of the Chancellor, the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, the Student Group Funding Board, the Senior Class Council and the CU Book Store. Thanks to Ecocycle and the CU Environmental Center, this is a zero waste event.

Map Legend

Norlin Charge to the Graduates

The first commencement at the University of Colorado was held for six graduates on June 8, 1882, in the chapel of Old Main. It was not until 40 years later, on September 4, 1922, that the first summer commencement was held. Since the first commencement in 1882, 335,355 degrees have been awarded by the University of Colorado Boulder. The traditional Norlin Charge to the graduates was first read by the late President George Norlin to the June 1935 graduating class.

You are now certified to the world at large as alumni of the university. She is your kindly mother and you her cherished sons and daughters.

This exercise denotes not your severance from her, but your union with her. Commencement does not mean, as many wrongly think, the breaking of ties and the beginning of life apart. Rather it marks your initiation in the fullest sense into the fellowship of the university, as bearers of her torch, as centers of her influence, as promoters of her spirit.

The university is not the campus, not the buildings on campus, not the faculties, not the students of any one time—not one of these or all of them. The university consists of all who come into and go forth from her halls, who are touched by her influence, and who carry on her spirit. Wherever you go, the university goes with you. Wherever you are at work, there is the university at work.

What the university purposes to be, what it must always strive to be, is represented on its seal, which is stamped on your diplomas—a lamp in the hands of youth. If its light shine not in you and from you, how great is its darkness! But if it shine in you today, and in the thousands before you, who can measure its power?

With hope and faith, I welcome you into the fellowship. I bid you farewell only in the sense that I pray you may fare well. You go forth, but not from us. We remain, but not severed from you. God go with you and be with you and us.
